ACCUSING STOCKHOLDER CAN'T ATTACK RECEIVERSHIP.

Affairs of the Company Are Now in Hands of the Court and Beyond Control of Stockholders -- Can't Inquire Now Into Cause of Company's Insolvency

TRENTON, April 4 .- Judge Kirkpatrick, in an opinion filed in the United States Circuit Court to-day, denied the application of Harry C. Spinks of Philadelphia to be admitted as a defendant in the proceedings by which a receiver was appointed for the Asphalt Company of America at the instance of the Land Title and Trust Company of Philadelphia. Mr. Spinks based claim on the ground that the answer of the Asphalt company was collusive and

Judge Kirkpatrick found nothing in the petition to justify the Court's intervention at this time. On Dec. 28 last the Land Title and Trust Company filed its petition for a receiver, and on the same day the Asphalt company filed its answer, admitting all the charges. The latter corporation was summarily declared insolvent and Messrs. Tatnall, Mack and Shanley were appointed receivers. Judge Kirkpatrick finds n the petition of Spinks an admission that the decree of insolvency was right, because he himself averred that the company was temporarily insolvent. He says Spinks also admitted the necessity for receivers. The burden of the petition, the Court The burden of the petition, the court holds, is to discharge the present receivers and have others named in their places. Judge Kirkpatrick holds that Spinks cannot be admitted as a defendant to attack the propriety of the appointment of the present receivers. He says in his decision:

the propriety of the appointment of the present receivers. He says in his decision:

The proceedings in relation to the administration of the affairs of the company are now in the hands of the court, and beyond the control of any particular set of stockholders, and it is not necessary that intervention should be had by any creditor or bondholder to do the work which the court has appointed its officers to perform.

If the petitioner in this case should be able to maintain the allegations of fraud set out in his bill or if he should find that the receivers are negligent or jeopardizing his interests or those of his associates, his remedy as a creditor and stockholder is clearly pointed out in the New Jersey Corporation act. The grievances of which the petitioner complains in his petition against the directors and stockholders of the Asphalt company of America cannot be raised in this suit, the object of which is not to inquire into the reasons for the insolvency of the incorporation, but to recognize the fact of insolvency.

The directors and stockholders are not parties to this suit and would not be found by any decree made therein; and any personal liability on their part must be enforced in a separate suit.

The petitioner has failed, by any proof, to sustain any charge of misconduct or fraud on the part of his trustee, who, alone under an agreement to which he is a party, appears to be entitled to bring this suit; and in the absence thereof, he cannot, for that reason, be permitted to intervene.

PLUNKITT GROWS ELOQUENT. Senator Makes the "Speech of His Life" Before Mayor Low.

Senator George W. Plunkitt, Tammany leader of the Fifteenth district, made what he called the speech of his life yesterday in opposing before the Mayor a bill compelling the Dock Commissioner to give to canal boats the exclusive use of piers on the North River from Fifty-first to Fifty-

Tearfully he announced that he had helped to build up the water front of his district from a potato garden to "what is now the proudest and most magnificent part of the city." Then in frenzied eloquence the Senator went on to denounce the bill as an attempt on the part of the State to steal the water front of the city.

"I don't object," he exclaimed, "to the sand or the bricks comin' into my district. I'm fightin' for home rule. But I don't want to let the State steal our water front. You, Mr. Mayor are an honest man, and you're honest, Dock Commissioner Hawkes. Why then don't they let you fix this dock business instead of runnin' to Albany and gettin a hayseed to introduce their bill.

"Why, Mr. Mayor, these canal boatmen from up the State live on their boats. They dollar. rear their families on 'em. They pay no taxes and don't vote. Think of it, they don't vote. I have no use for a man who don't vote. I don't care how a man votes so long as he does vote."

Representatives of the Board of Trade Representatives of the Board of Trade and Transportation of the Maritime Exchange and of other commercial interests somewhat weakened Mr. Plunkitt's argument that the bill was a State grab when they showed that one of the piers under consideration had been leased to a "middle man" for $1,500 annually although the shippers who used it would gladly pay $15,000 a year for its occupancy. It was Samuel D. Coykendall, speaking on behalf of the brick and cement manufacturers who made this statement. He charged that in the closing days of the Van Wyck administration the pier, used mostly by administration the pier, used mostly by the brick shippers had been let to a middle-man at a rental of $1,500 a year. The bill, he went on to explain, would not give the canal boat and barge men any privileges which they had not hitherto had, but would merely confirm to their use the piers mentioned in the hill. The Merchants' Association sent a letter to the Mayor calling attention to the necessity of providing ample companying in the of providing ample canal terminals in the Montana, acither showing any force or pracipita-The Mayor said he would take the matter

WON'T REOPEN ASPHALT CASE MLACK EYE FOR PSYCHOLOGY. M. E. Conference Thinks Knowledge o

It Not Indispensable in a Minister. The New York Conference, which is holding its sessions at Grace Methodist Episcopal Church decided yesterday that a lack of proficiency in the study of psychology should not bar candidates from admission to orders. The question came up in the morning when the Conference was taking action on the applications of seven young men who wanted to be placed on probation for elderships One of the candidates, Emmet Shew of One of the candidates, Emmet Shew of the Newburgh district, it was announced in answer to the regular question put by the Bishop, had not passed in psychology. Dr. Palmer, his Presiding Eider, said sarcastically, that his deficiency was really too bad.

"Perhaps he didn't pass the examination," he said, "but from what I know of his struggles in building up a little church he has put a whole lot of psychology into practice, and that is what we want in our church."

The Eider's remarks were received with put a whole lot of psychology into practice, and that is what we want in our church. The Elder's remarks were received with applause, but there was some opposition from a small faction. Prof. Peritz of Syracuse University, said that every one should come up to the discipline and that small congregations had just as much right to good scholars as larger and richer ones. Dr. Peritz's supporters lost by a large vote. Twelve candidates were admitted to elder's orders: Achilles A. Lambert, a former Roman Catholic priest, who has been a missionary in India, was admitted to full connection. There was surprise when a list of candidates for deacon's orders came up and it was announced that not a man had passed the examinations. Dr. Palmer said that in the country districts deacons were badly needed and moved that a few be taken from the list and admitted This was agreed to.

This was agreed to. This was agreed to.

Meetings in the interests of the Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary boards were held in the afternoon and evening. At the evening meeting Mrs. Mary Swail Wilkinson, President of Folts Institute, made an appeal for the uplifting of the women of China and was followed by Miss Anna Stone, a Chinese girl, who has been studying for three years in this country.

IN DR. COUCH'S FAVOR. Dr. Buckley's Charges Against Brooklyn

Minister Dismissed TORRINGTON, Conn., April 4 .- At today's session of the New York East Conference of Methodist ministers Dr. J. M. Buckley, editor of the Christian Advocate, preferred charges against Dr. D. W. Couch of Brooklyn, N. Y., alleging lack of discipline in having received a member into cipline in having received a member into the church on short probation and having declared that he was glad he had done so.

After much discussion the charges were dismissed by the Conference, which, though it did not approve the action of Dr. Couch, decided that no charge could be entertained against him personally.

At the evening session the Rev. Dr. H. H. Russell, superintendent of the American Anti-Saloon League, reported that a bill is to be introduced into Congress to carry the Anti-Canteen law into the navy as well as the army. Two amendments are also to be presented to the Army bill by Senator to be presented to the Army bill by Senator Hansbrough of North Dakota, the first to appropriate $1,000,000 to build and equip post exchanges, the second to appropriate $675,000 for the improvement of the rations of the soldiers in the army.

MURDERER HETTRICK HANGED

WRONG PHOTOGRAPH RIGHTLY IDENTIFIED HIM.

Discovered Yesterday That the Picture Sent Out by the Police as His Was Really That of a Clergyman - Stuck to It That His Wife Began Fatal Quarrel.

TRENTON, N. J., April 4 .- A singular instance of the ends of justice being furthered by a case of mistaken identity was brought to light to-day in connection with the hanging of George Hettrick, who was executed this morning for killing his aged employer, John Kraus, last Thanksgiving Day. It has just been brought to light that Hettrick was identified in Syracuse through a photograph of a Cincinnati clergyman, which was found among his effects after the murder.

police as a picture of Hettrick, the first presumption being confirmed by the discovery that Hettrick while engaged in the sale of some patent medicine in Baltimore had represented that he was formerly a student in a Catholic college. This explained to the satisfaction of the police that in the supposed photograph of Hettrick he appeared in the robes of a priest. Copies of the photograph were made by the police and sent out, every published portrait of the murderer showing him in priest's attire. In some respects the portrait of the genuine clergyman resembled Hettrick, but there were certain differences Hettrick, but there were certain differences in the features which the police were at a loss to explain, even by the lapse of time. Until recently, however, they did not seriously doubt that the picture was one of Hettrick taken early in his career.

The remarkable feature of the case is that the resemblance was sufficient to lead to the identification of the murderer, who was first noticed in a Syracuse saloon, compared with the picture in possession of the Syracuse police and then arrested.

Hettrick, who is only 25 years of age, was preceded to the scaffold by two priests, one carrying a cluster of white roses sent to the condemned man and the other holding before his face a crucifix and urging him to constant prayer. The priests, the him to constant prayer. The priests, the Rev. Fathers Fish and Bernadine, stood on the scaffold when the drop fell, and did not cease their devotions until it w announced, eleven minutes afterward, that the man was dead. Hettrick maintained to the last his former Hettrick maintained to the last his former statement as to the killing, asserting that he was upstairs when his wife and Kraus got in an altercation. His wife, he said, struck the first blow, and he then beat Kraus to death with a block of wood. Hettrick's brother will take the body to his former home in Buffalo to-morrow. It is known that he was his wife set with the said his wife set with the wife with the wife set with the wife with the known that he and his wife set out to cart away the body, but that the wife told a stranger whom she met what had been done. When it became apparent to Het-trick that his wife had repented of her part in the undertaking he fled.

GAYNOR WALKS ALL OVER DIKE.

Also Steps on the Governor - Dike Will Go to Jall If He Bothers Guden.

When Supreme Court Justice Gaynor in Brooklyn handed down his decision in the Guden-Dike controversy he ordered that Col. Dike hand over the books and papers of the Sheriff's office to Mr. Guden or go to jail. Then he granted a stay pending an appeal to the Appellate Division. Jerry A. Wernberg, counsel for Guden, asked that the stay be vacated; as Col. Dike had abused the stay in refusing to lock up a prisoner in the jail on Monday night on an order from Supreme Court Justice Maddox.

Former Corporation Counsel Burr, for Col. Dike, said the application was an at-

Col. Dike, said the application was an attempt to compel Col. Dike under threat to surrender his office or the jail, or both. He also alleged that the arrest on Monday night was a put-up job.

"I can only say that I am sorry and astonished that such a thing should happen," said Justice Gaynor. "I may say that in the opinion of all the Judges here that the decision has been disgracefully treated by Col. Dike. It is a matter of great surprise to me that Col. Dike, whom I know as a member of the bar, did not remain as a member of the bar, did not remain passive, and I am sorry that he has been so advised."

Later Justice Gaynor handed down a lecision in which he said: decision in which he said:

The cause assigned is ample to vacate this stay. It was granted under the supposition that the contestant would know his place and status after the decision and govern himself accordingly. It is to be regretted that instead he deems it seemly and permissible to demean himself in a manner apparently regardless and defiant of order and authority, thereby setting a bad example and giving much annoyance to the Judges of our courts here.

I therefore announce that if he any further interferes in any way with the free access of Charles Guden to the county jail, or with the said Guden in the execution of any duty or function as Sheriff of Kings County, I shall sign an order vacating the order staying his commitment by the Coroner.
